INTERPRETATION

Based on your score, your current level of anxiety appears to be "MILD". While this should not be a major cause of concern, you might still want to practice and bring this into the 'green zone' of LOW ANXIETY.

Almost all anxiety cases start with mild disturbances if not tackled early on, can become a behavioural trait.

Everyone is anxious in specific conditions but the nature of this survey is that it covers a variety of life situations and therefore you should make modifications to your thinking and behaviour or seek expert advice if you feel it has begun to impact your quality of their life.
